

INTRODUCING
AUSTCHAM'S
 YOUNG BUSINESS AMBASSADORS

Meet our six young business leaders who have been chosen to be the first of our AustCham young business ambassadors. They are from a diverse range of industries and have all had a variety of experiences, making them strong champions for the chamber and the work we do.

MARK MORGANTE

REGIONAL DIRECTOR, SOUTH EAST ASIA PROXIMITI

WHAT IS YOUR TOP TIP FOR ASPIRING YOUNG BUSINESS PEOPLE?
 Jobs are not as structured as they used to be. The ability to apply ideas from other industries and experience from across roles will be increasingly important in the future. I'm a huge advocate for a wide range of experience, both professionally and personally. In my (relatively short) career I've worked in automotive, banking, hospitality, IT and professional services industries. This has helped my career on numerous occasions

- for example my compliance experience is invaluable when working on innovation projects with banking clients.

HOW DO YOU THINK ORGANISATIONS AND MANAGEMENT WILL CHANGE (OR SHOULD CHANGE) WITH MILLENNIAL COMING INTO THE WORKFORCE?

I believe that younger professionals (as well as many older professionals) want flexibility. The concept of the eight-hour work day stems from the industrial revolution. We're now in the information age where you don't need to be tied to a machine (or desk) to be productive.

What does leave, to the office)
 first to last

HOW DID CURRENT
 Moving an deal for m
 my time I
 what I had Melbourne Asia and jumped at
 for the ne
 skills, and prospects
 an inform

WHAT HAS
 We first
 was a 7e
 work for remember
 learned